

Name: Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey

One-line Introduction: The Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey is an evolved Arachnachimp trapped in the Ultimatrix, later freed by Azmuth.

Appearance: The Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey looks identical to the regular Ultimate Spidermonkey, the only differences being that he has red eyes and lacks the evolved Ultimatrix symbol on his chest.

History: The Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey was trapped in the Ultimatrix as Ultimate Spidermonkey. In "The Ultimate Sacrifice," he and the other Ultimates tried to convince Ben Tennyson to commit suicide so they could be free. Azmuth stopped Ben and freed the Ultimates, taking them to his lab where they could live comfortably and usefully.

Weaknesses: The Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey's webs can be torn apart by species as strong as Anodites or be melted by the nuclear energy generated by Atomix's species. Additionally, the Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey can be put to sleep by Argit's quills. His ears are also sensitive and can be hurt by Evolved Sonorosians' sonic vibrations.

Powers and Abilities: The Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey possesses the ability to spit webs from his mouth, which is more effective than an Arachnachimp's tail-produced webs. His webs are strong enough to restrain powerful beings, such as a Vaxasaurian, an Orishan, and a Gimlinopithecus. He can use his webbing to create web constructs, including web nets and cushions for landing. The Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey is much stronger than regular Arachnachimps, demonstrated by Negative Ultimate Spidermonkey's ability to take down a Tetramand. He is also extremely durable, having survived Atomix's Nuclear Winner and a punch from a Tetramand. His durability extends to radiation and heat resistance, as he was unharmed after falling through the atmosphere. Furthermore, the Sentient Ultimate Spidermonkey is highly agile and can jump extremely high. He can climb walls and has prehensile feet. His spider legs are sharp and can be used to pull things apart or pierce concrete walls.

Personality: Not mentioned.