

Name: Ultimate Cannonbolt

One-line Introduction: Ultimate Cannonbolt is the Ultimatrix's artificially evolved DNA sample of an Arburian Pelarota.

Appearance: Ultimate Cannonbolt closely resembles Cannonbolt from Alien Force and Ultimate Alien, but his skin is hard light metallic blue. His shell features cylindrical studs that transform into spikes when he enters his ball form. These spikes are arranged with two on each back segment and one on each shoulder, wrist, and leg plate. His teeth are similar to Cannonbolt's, but he has two sharp fangs. In sphere form, Ultimate Cannonbolt appears grey, and the spikes on his armor become pointed. He also wears the evolved Ultimatrix symbol on his chest.

History: Ultimate Cannonbolt's first appearance was in "Too Hot to Handle," where he assisted in containing P'Andor. He also appeared in "Perplexahedron," where he fought Ultimate Aggregor, ultimately failing to prevent Aggregor from obtaining a piece of the Map of Infinity. In "The Transmogrification of Eunice," he battled and defeated Sunder, rescuing Eunice. He also defeated Dr. Animo and his mutant frog in "It's Not Easy Being Gwen." In the comics, Ultimate Cannonbolt appeared in "Star Chaser", "The Ben 10 Alien Force Experience," and "Remote Control." He is also a playable character in the video game "Ben 10: Galactic Racing," and the online games "Project Exonaut" and "Super Hero Time."

Weaknesses: Not mentioned.

Powers and Abilities: Ultimate Cannonbolt possesses powers similar to Cannonbolt, but with enhanced capabilities. His shell is thicker and metallic, increasing his defensive abilities. The studs on his plates turn into spikes in sphere form, boosting his offensive potential. In sphere form, he has increased traction, retains momentum, and can crush obstacles. He has enhanced strength, demonstrated by smashing Sunder to the ground and creating shock waves when punching. Ultimate Cannonbolt naturally absorbs nuclear energy and can fire his spikes as projectiles.

Personality: Not mentioned.