

Name: Stinkfly

One-line Introduction: Stinkfly is the Omnitrix's DNA sample of a Lepidopterran from the planet Lepidopterra.

Appearance: Stinkfly has an insectoid body with four crab-like legs and two arms ending in three-clawed hands. He possesses four small eyes on long, prehensile stalks connected to his large head, which can be moved independently, providing 360-degree vision. On his back are two fragile, light greenish-yellow dragon-like wings with veins. His limbs are a brown-greenish color. In the Original Series, Stinkfly wore a white sleeveless jumpsuit with black lining covering most of his body, including his head and tail. His hands had a black coloration similar to fingerless gloves, and his eyes were yellowish-orange. His mouth has a tongue and gums that are green in coloration, and he had squarish teeth that interlocked when closed. He wore the Omnitrix symbol on his forehead. Variations in appearance exist across different series and transformations, including changes in clothing color, eye color, and the presence of gloves. Kevin's Stinkfly form looks the same as Ben's in the Original Series, but with a darker color scheme and without an Omnitrix symbol. Ben 10,000's Stinkfly had longer eyes with black pupils, larger stingers and legs, and inverted colors on his clothes.

History: Stinkfly first appeared in Washington B.C., where he saved Gwen from the Mutant Parrot and defeated Dr. Animo. He was involved in various events, including battling Jonah Melville, escaping the police with Kevin, saving a truck driver from a fire, and fighting Vilgax. Stinkfly played roles in episodes such as "The Big Tick," "Framed," "Ultimate Weapon," "Camp Fear," "Tough Luck," "They Lurk Below," "Back With a Vengeance," "Ben 10,000," "A Change of Face," "Merry Christmas," "Super Alien Hero Buddy Adventures," "The Return," "Ben 10: Secret of the Omnitrix," "Don't Drink the Water," "Ben 10 vs. Negative 10: Part 1," and "Ben 10: Destroy All Aliens." In "The Forge of Creation," he was defeated by Ultimate Aggregor. Five years prior to Omniverse, he was defeated by a Nosedeenian and battled Phil as Terroranchula. He was locked by the Omnitrix's reconfiguration in Ben 10 Returns: Part 1 but re-unlocked by Ben 10,000 in "Ben 10,000 Returns." In Omniverse, he defeated Crabdozer but was defeated by Buglizard in "Of Predators and Prey: Part 1" and was later trapped by Buglizard in "Of Predators and Prey: Part 2." He also appeared in "Malefactor," "Malgax Attacks," and "A New Dawn." In the original future timeline, he was defeated by Vilgax. In comics, he attempted to save a kid, defeated a tentacle alien, flew away from criminals, and tried to defeat Dora.

Weaknesses: Stinkfly's wings are vulnerable; if held down, he cannot fly. Soaked wings become limp and heavy, preventing flight until they dry off. He is unable to swim due to his unbalanced body weight and thin limbs. His odor can be a problem when trying to hide from those with a strong sense of smell. He is at a disadvantage against Buglizards due to their slime-neutralizing fog. Stinkfly is also vulnerable to electricity and is implied to be vulnerable to fire.

Powers and Abilities: Stinkfly's primary ability is to squirt high-pressured streams of green, slimy liquid from the glands inside his eyestalks and mouth. This slime is created by special filters in his underbelly that absorb particles from the air. The slime is strong enough to hold a helicopter and can be used to ensnare opponents or as a makeshift grappling hook. He can produce slime with differing properties, including an immobilizing adhesive and a flammable toxin. Stinkfly possesses dragon-shaped insectoid wings that allow for quick and agile flight, changing directions rapidly, and can fly at over 60 mph for short distances. His sharp tail can tear through steel, and his claws and legs allow him to cling to solid surfaces. Stinkfly has great strength in proportion to his body, allowing him to carry heavy loads while flying. His exoskeletal body is fairly strong, allowing him to survive being smashed through buildings and large explosions and is bulletproof. He has enhanced hearing and 360-degree vision due to the flexible nature of his eyestalks. Stinkfly can release both toxic gas and methane gas.
