

Name: Ultimate Echo Echo

One-line Introduction: Ultimate Echo Echo is the Ultimatrix's artificially evolved DNA sample of a Sonorosian.

Appearance: Ultimate Echo Echo has a tall blue body with black stripes, an overall rounded design, long arms and legs, and stumped feet. His body looks metallic, but he is not a robot or containment suit. He has fifteen blue, removable speaker-like components attached to his body and a marking on his back resembling a cassette tape. Ultimate Echo Echo wears the evolved Ultimatrix symbol on his chest. Negative Ultimate Echo Echo, as Albedo's transformation, has red eyes and red cables that attach from his back to his hands. His head is wide and angular, with a smaller mouth, a silvery forehead, and black "ears" on the sides. His Sonic Discs are red instead of blue and look like his head, not having a sunken look to them. Two of the spikes on the Ultimatrix symbol, which look more tubular, connect to the discs on his chest, and a third one seems to crawl up the side of his neck. He also has black stripes on his stomach and legs.

History: Ultimate Echo Echo first appeared in **Map of Infinity**, where he defeated some Necrofriggians and explored the temple on Mikd'lty, during which he defeated Cerberus. He switched into Four Arms to help Kevin hold a door open. In **The Enemy of My Enemy**, Ultimate Echo Echo saved the Plumber's Academy from a nuclear bomb. In **Absolute Power: Part 2**, Ultimate Echo Echo defeated Ultimate Kevin before Gwen convinced him not to finish him off. In **Viktor: The Spoils**, Ultimate Echo Echo saved the Rustbucket 3 from some missiles. In **Basic Training**, Ultimate Echo Echo briefly appeared after battling Trombipulor. In **Greetings From Techadon**, Ultimate Echo Echo battled a silver Techadon Robot and figured out how to stop it. In **Double or Nothing**, Ultimate Echo Echo defeated Negative Rath. In **The Perfect Girlfriend**, Ultimate Echo Echo fought Elena, who nearly suffocated him with her Microchips until Julie convinced her to spare him. In **Night of the Living Nightmare**, Ultimate Echo Echo was seen confronting Albedo in a dream. In **The Ultimate Heist**, Negative Ultimate Echo Echo defeated Eye Guy but was defeated by Shocksquatch and switched into Negative Ultimate Spidermonkey. In **And Then There Was Ben**, Negative Ultimate Echo Echo chased an Omnitrixless Ben Prime only to be sent back to the Prime Timeline by No Watch Ben as Clockwork. In the comic **Fashion Victim**, Ultimate Echo Echo defeated Charmcaster's Rock Monsters. In the comic **Remote Control**, Ultimate Echo Echo was attacked by Sir Driscoll until he was switched into NRG.

Weaknesses: Like his devolved form, Ultimate Echo Echo is vulnerable to electricity, such as that generated by a Gimlinopithecus. Ultimate Echo Echo also will feel pain if his Sonic Discs are damaged, demonstrated when they were electrocuted. Ultimate Echo Echo's skin is somewhat metallic, which means he can be easily magnetized by a Biotsavartian. Ultimate Echo Echo can be suffocated if a large amount of matter enters his lungs. Like his devolved form, Ultimate Echo Echo can also unintentionally hurt his teammates' ears with his sonic vibrations, as demonstrated with his sentient counterpart. Unlike his devolved form, Ultimate Echo Echo does not have the ability to duplicate himself.

Powers and Abilities: Ultimate Echo Echo can release sonic waves from the Sonic Discs on his body. These sound waves are powerful enough to shatter steel, throw Ultimate Kevin through several buildings at once, heavily damage a Petrosapien, paralyze an Opticoid, and temporarily contain a blast from a Nuclear Fusion Grenade. Ultimate Echo Echo can create force fields out of sonic waves that are strong enough to block Petrosapien crystal shards. Ultimate Echo Echo can also release sonic screams like his devolved form, as demonstrated by his sentient counterpart. Ultimate Echo Echo can fly and levitate by using sound waves. Ultimate Echo Echo possesses enhanced strength, enough to briefly help Kevin hold open a door in the temple on Mikd'lty. Ultimate Echo Echo is durable enough to withstand being thrown through the walls of Ben's house and getting smacked by a To'kustar, as demonstrated by his sentient counterpart. Ultimate Echo Echo can survive and use his powers in the vacuum of space. Ultimate Echo Echo is immune to low temperatures, like those on Mikd'lty. Ultimate Echo Echo can send out the Sonic Discs on his body to project powerful sonic blasts, which can easily knock out his opponents, destroy projectiles or even a military tank. Ultimate Echo Echo can also multiply the Sonic Discs once they have separated from his body, creating as many as needed. Ultimate Echo Echo can use his Sonic Discs to use an exceedingly deadly move called Sonic Doom, where his discs surround the enemy and fire full sonic blasts, which was powerful enough to subdue Ultimate Kevin. Ultimate Echo Echo's Sonic Discs can continue flying and attacking even after he transforms back to normal. Ultimate Echo Echo's Sonic Discs can capture/reproduce sound waves out of phase, thus canceling out the sound in the environment.

Personality: Not mentioned.