

Name: Buzzshock

One-line Introduction: Buzzshock is the Omnitrix's DNA sample of a Nosedeenian from the Nosideen Quasar.

Appearance: Buzzshock's appearance is similar to an Earth dry cell battery, albeit rounded. He is black with green eyes and a large lightning bolt-like stripe spanning from his neck to his waist on his front and back sides, and positive (+) and negative (-) symbols on his back. In the Original Series, Buzzshock's lightning bolt stripe was white, and he had a hole on his head that could release electricity. The Omnitrix symbol is located on his chest. In the Ultimate Alien intro, Buzzshock looked mostly the same as he did in the Original Series, except the hole on his head was filled in with a flat grey spot and his Ultimatrix symbol was recolored green. In Omniverse, Buzzshock has two bolts on each arm, the lightning bolt stripe is recolored green, and the top of his head features a proper battery cap, colored light green. His head is now more prominent, as his chin actually sticks out rather than being a part of a long, one-piece body, and his eyes are now almond-shaped instead of being circular. He wears the Omnitrix symbol on the top of his head cap. Ken's Buzzshock looked the same as Ben 10,000's Buzzshock in the Original Series. Bad Ben as Buzzshock looks identical to Ben Prime's Buzzshock in Omniverse, save for all the green parts being recolored mint green.

History: In *Max's Monster* (Omniverse), Buzzshock was unlocked by Phil so he could feed off him. He then recharged a Null Void Projector to defeat Phil by sending him back to the Null Void. In *Cough It Up* (Omniverse), Buzzshock defeated SixSix, but was defeated by SevenSeven. In *Rook Tales* (Omniverse), Buzzshock failed to take off Young One's tail. In *The Color of Monkey* (Omniverse), Buzzshock battled Liam and Suemungousaur. In the Original Future Timeline, Buzzshock first appeared in *Ben 10,000*, where he defeated Dr. Animo. In *Ken 10*, Ken as Buzzshock attempted to fight Mot Snikrep before the latter was frozen by Ben 10,000 as Arctiguana. Later, Ken as Buzzshock briefly battled Kevin 11,000 before the former reverted. In *And Then There Was Ben*, Bad Buzzshock chased an Omnitrixless Ben Prime only to be sent back to his own timeline by No Watch Ben as Clockwork. In the comic *Black Knight's Flight*, Buzzshock weakened the Black Knight.

Weaknesses: Buzzshock can be insulated with rubber-sheeted blankets. He can be trapped in something made of a non-conductive material, such as glass. Buzzshock's energy can be absorbed by a species such as Conductoids. If Buzzshock runs out of energy, he will be unable to stay awake. Buzzshock's small size can be a disadvantage against a bigger, stronger opponent.

Powers and Abilities: Buzzshock is like a living battery, able to store and release massive amounts of electricity within his body. The amount stored corresponds with his vitality; he gets energetic and hyper when full of electricity and sleepy when deprived of it. Buzzshock can both project the electricity stored inside his body outward and absorb external electricity inward, primarily by using his hands. He also has electrokinesis, and is able to control any electricity around him, allowing him to draw in electricity from far away or link himself to other Nosedeenians. He can absorb all the energy from a city block in a matter of seconds, and as a result of absorbing, his electric attacks become more powerful. Buzzshock is immune to electricity, and he can convert parts of his body or his entire body into pure electricity, and travel across certain things, such as phone lines and pipes. Using this ability, Buzzshock can inhabit electrical devices, controlling them from the inside, and in some cases powering them. He can also cause electrical technology to malfunction and fry when he passes through them. If Buzzshock absorbs enough energy, he can duplicate himself one or many times. He can also duplicate if he is forcibly bisected, in which his two parts will regenerate and become two whole Nosedeenians. Buzzshock can naturally fly and levitate, and can also do so by turning his entire body or parts of it into electricity. Buzzshock is surprisingly strong for his size, as a Nosedeenian was able to lift an adult human several feet above the ground by their underwear. Buzzshock has enhanced reflexes. Buzzshock can emit a sonic scream capable of shattering glass.

Personality: Like all Nosedeenians, Buzzshock is prone to mischievousness or amusement. He always laughs whenever he moves around or fights.

